The reports given by the officers of the Board of Directors and management of the Southside Electric Cooperative to approximately 3,400 members and friends at the 27th Annual Meeting of Members held Saturday, September 19, in Crewe, Va., indicated that the Cooperative is accepting the challenge of change that is taking place in South side Virginia.

Mr. G. T. Connelly, o Gladys, vice president of the Board of Directors, gave the report of the President. Mr. O. S. Williams, who was unable to attend because of death in the family, in reading the President's message, Mr. Connally said, "We have a twelve million dollar organization here and it is a successfully run organization."

In reporting the impact of the Cooperative on the community, the secretary - treasurer Woodrow Martin stated, "You paid your Cooperative $1,960,178 with your bi-monthly bills for electric service. ials and pharmaceutical preparations, known the world over. Lewes, Del., is also a famous town, and believe it or not was once called Zwarrnendael, because of the countless swans there. Lewes was bombarded by the British in 1815, and not having any cannon balls to fire back the residents gathered up the ones the British had used and fired them back! Peter Minuet and a group of Swedes and Finns landed there in 1638. A famous hotel was built in Rehoboth in 1859. It was known for its annual camp meetings and its Boardwalk was built in 1894. Princess Anne, Md. was a favorite Town for me. . . and my college fraternity used to have a great Christmas dinner there. Many famous cities were once small towns . . . like Wilmington, the first city of the first State of the Union. 1638, again, was the date. The Swedes named it The Minquas the Christina, after their youthful Queen. The English took over in 1664, but despite its famed Robins o n House at Naamans, it soared to great prominence after 1802, when Eluthere I. du Pont started America's first powder mill there and started the saga of manufacture which has given the world so many things, from weapons to nylon.

Shucks, I wanted to write about some other famous towns . . . including Nebraska, later known as West Appomattox and other 4-H bacteria. They include: distributed by Virginia Forests, Inc. any American Town is tops . . . from Van Horn to Cape Cod, including one old one, named Sassafras.

Oh boy, we are really bearing down on No. 88. My brother-in-law, G. L. Doss, came back from the Smokey Mountains with the granddaddy of cornecb pipes for me. It's a hulu, nearly seven feet of it, 6,660 feet of Clingman's Peak. And they fetched some nice salt and peppers for Brightleaf.

You hit lucky streaks like that. I rode around the other day with Bro. Lloyd Vaughan and he batted 100 per cent . . . sold everyone we called on. Course, I did not tell him I had a rabbit's foot in my leaward pocket and a Confederate Minie ball to starboard. But I am honest to say that success in salesmanship springs from having a good product to start with, presenting it fairly and smartly, and keeping everlastingly at it. Bro. Vaughan qualifies in every way.

Before I get too far away from the AHS Rebels, I would like to suggest that our fine school needs an Alma Mater song. . . or if I am out of step and we already have one . . . use it more. One of the memorable moments in every game is when the band does the school Alma Mater. It is a solemn moment. . . almost like the Star-Spangled Banner, which should be played before every kick-off.

Four-H Membership Now 2,000,000

Members, leaders, friends of 4-H and the Cooperative Extension Service are joining forces to expand opportunities of 4-H club membership in every county and state in the nation.

The concerted push is being made to offer 4-H training to increasing numbers of boys and girls between 9 and 19 years old.

Current enrollment is around 2,224,500 members in 94,700 clubs

During the last decade 4-H Clubs have been established in urban and rural non-farm homes which today account for 52 per cent of the tota lmembership.

Consequently some 4- Hprograms have been revised to meet the needs of off-the-farm members. More scientific exploration now is carried on in nearly all projects. Training in economics including production and marketing also have been introduced along with home and farm management.

Business firms which contribute financial support to the various programs have assisted greatly in bringing about this modernization, reports the National 4-H Service Committee.

Some business firms and foundations provide funds only for college scholarships and for recognition of individual members. Among them are: Ortho Division, California Chemical Company; Homelite, A Division of Textron Inc.; Massey-Ferguson, Inc.; Pyrofax Gas Corporation; Edwin T. Meredith Foundation; Sunbeam Corporation and The West Bend Company.

Edsacional trips, scholarships and awards for outstanding work in specific projects are given by other 4-H backers. They include: Allied Chemical Corporation, Arcadian Products Dept.; Allis - Chalmers Manufacturing Co., Farm Equipment Division American Forest Products Industries, Inc.; Carnation Company; Chicago Board of Trade; Cities Service Oil Company; E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, Inc.; Elgin National Watch Company; Eli Lilly and Company; Heisdorf and Nelson Farms, Inc. Hercules Powder Company.

Others are: Humble Oil & Refining Company; Ford Motor Company Fund; International Minerals and Chemical Corporation; Moorman Mfg. Co.; Oliver Corporation; The Pure Oil Company; Simplicity Pattern Co., Inc.; The Singer Company; The Brands Incorporated and Standard Oil (Kentucky).

Latin Club Meets

The Latin Club had its first official meeting on Thursday, October 1, in the A.H.S. auditorium. The meeting was called ot order by the Consul, Linda Love, after which she read the constitution. Scribe Jeanne Chechek, called the roll and read the minutes of the call meeting, which was held by the second year students.

The meeting was then turned over to vice-consul, Julia Gull. For the program, Cynthia Richardson read the fortunes of the slaves, after which Arlene Paulette and Janet Moses, presented talks on the topics "What a Slave Should Do For His Master," and "What A Master Should Make His Slave Do," respectively. The program concluded with the feeding of grapes to the masters by their slaves.

The officers for the '64-'65 session are: Consul, Linda Love; girls' reporter, Julia Gull, Quaester, David Hamilton; Scriba, Jeanne Chuchek; Nuntia, Janet Moses.

Some retail merchants hold on to small change to save trips to the bank. Today there is a temporary shortage of halves, quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies. It would be a big help if everyone would put any surplus back into circulation.

ASC Chairman Says

Program Seeks Less Wheat

The 1965 voluntary wheat program still has the reduction of grain production and stocks as one of its principal purposes, J. A. Martin, Chairman, Appomattox County, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

The fact that the program offers several options does not lessen the fact that it is intended primarily to help farmers divert from crops in excessive supply and shift such acreage into an approved conserving use. The options merely provide latitude in adapting program provisions to individual farm operations while working toward the program's objectives.

The 1965 wheat program, Mr. Martin said, encourages the grower to divert acreage from the production of wheat into an approved conserving use. The 1965 feed grain program, not yet announced, will continue to seek diversion of acreage from the substitution privilege, available for the first time under the 1965 program, permits farmers who participate in both programs to choose which crop —wheat or one of the feed grains — wants to reduce.

Growers who file applications to participate in the 1965 wheat program and meet its minimum provisions, qualify for price support on their wheat crop through loans and purchases, and for marketing certificates with a cash value.

IS

NATIONAL PHARMACY WEEK

WHEN THE NATION SALUTES YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD PHARMACIST

It is a time in our land when big business and big labor threaten as never before to enslave us all. So, it is especially fitting that we few remaining independent pharmacists accept with great pride the salute of National Pharmacy Week!

In these times when big money calls the signals in government and receives the favors of government and manufacturers alike, it is an accomplishment to remain independent, whereas, to our forefathers independence was merely the expected of a good citizen.

We believe that the future of freedom in this country rests largely in the preservation of our individually owned businesses, and the stimulation and encouragement of more and more independent enterprises. W believe in the individual right of a person to own his own property and make his own living. No man is free when he is collectively owned and controlled.

As the nation salutes your neighborhood pharmacist, for his contribution to the health team in every community, we at Sneed's Pharmacy salute the good people of Appomattox who, by their patronage and support, have made it possible for us to begin a new business in a free community. Sneed's Pharmacy is independently owned by Libby Sneed and her family.

You, the good people of Appomattox have shown your love of freedom and your faith in individual enterprise by helping us to establish an independent drug store in Appomattox, and in so doing you have re-affirmed your faith in the dignity of the individual who still wants to stand on his own two feet and support himself in the face of all adversities, including a socialistic world.

To you, we are eternally grateful, for ourselves personally, and it is our prayer that you will always and even more support all independent enterprises and thus help turn America back to the free land she was intended to be, and indeed, once was.
